*Grades 3-6 should purchase Prismacolor brand colored pencils specifically. This is our primary drawing tool for art, and the product is far superior to other colored pencils, such as Crazy Art and Crayola. These will be used throughout the year. Because they cost about $1 per pencil, plan and shop online for the best deals. Prismacolor offers a discounted, yet excellent, line called Prismacolor Scholar, which can be found online for approximately 50¢ per pencil. Walmart carries a 48-count pack that could be divided between two siblings. Please be aware that not all 12-pencil sets are the same. There are other editions, such as “botanicals” and “under the sea,” that do not contain all the colors students will need. Ensure the set you buy includes all the standard colors: light and dark green, black, yellow, red, dark and light brown, orange, dark and light blue, purple, and white. You can see the colors included in each set on the back of the package or in the product description online. Prismacolor has also released a line of erasable colored pencils. Please avoid purchasing these. The colors lack vibrancy and do not layer as well as the premier or scholar lines. Here are links to the best prices on Prismacolor sets. We recommend the 24 packs because students may need the extra colors. But if cost is a significant factor, 12 good pencils are better than 24 bad ones.
